Description

Description:	At a distance of about 10 km south of Pula, there is a well-known tourist village - Medulin. Just the place it can be easily seen from afar because the two white bell towers of the church of St. Agnes. With its mild Mediterranean climate, clear sea and indented coastline, it meets all the conditions for vacation for many guests, but also a pleasant life in one of its many towns. In the center of this small town there is an attractive stone house, a true example of traditional Istrian construction. Hidden behind greenery, it offers a touch of peace in the hustle and bustle of summer days. A spacious yard in the shade it also contains an external storage room and a toilet. The house with its 227 m² consists of a ground floor, a first floor and a cinema room loft with a charming view of the sea. Kitchen and living room with fireplace they occupy their place at the bottom of the house, from which the stone stairs lead to the floor with two larger bedrooms. In the middle of them there is a landing with the entrance to the bathroom. A wooden staircase is connected to the stone one towards the last floor, which is isolated by a wooden door. The location itself is close to everything necessary and additional content as
