Description

Description:	In the very south of the Istrian peninsula there is a small ancient Roman town called Pula. Pula is rich in its heritage and old Roman infrastructures and legacies that give it a special atmosphere when enjoying this wonderful city, which has gradually become one of the leading tourist destinations in Croatia in the last ten years. Right in the very center of the city of Pula and in one of the most sought-after parts of it, this spacious family apartment is located on the third floor with an area of 164 m² on two floors. The apartment is well geographically oriented and well lit, and consists of several entrances, which can be used as several residential units. On the third floor there is a 92m² apartment with two separate entrances, one is separated as a studio apartment, while the other part consists of an entrance hall, bathroom, living room, spacious bedroom and kitchen with a dining area. On the upper floor, which has several separate entrances, there are four rooms in the form of bedrooms with one shared bathroom and a kitchen of 72m², which is currently NOT entered in the owner's list, but should be entered later in the floor plan, with the fact that this apartment has been used for many years . The apartment is located in an older building, and requires partial renovation, it has separate electricity and water meters for each apartment unit and for the space on the second floor of the apartment, i.e. in the attic. The great advantage of this apartment is its area, the possibility of creating several smaller residential units, the layout and location in the city center, close to all the amenities for life, such as shops, banks, post offices, doctors, markets, parks and so on. Due to its location and area, the said property represents a great potential for future buyers and offers the possibility of engaging in the hospitality business of renting out one or more apartments in the said property, which would significantly speed up the return of invested funds or arranging the apartment in the sense of enjoying it for a comfortable family life.
