Description

Description:	In the very south of the Istrian peninsula there is a small ancient Roman town called Pula. Pula is rich in its heritage and old Roman infrastructures and legacies that give it a special atmosphere when enjoying this wonderful city, which has gradually become one of the leading tourist destinations in Croatia in the last ten years. On one of these hills, this attractive agricultural land with a total area of 3433 m² is for sale and contains a cultivated vineyard and an olive grove in full harvest. The plot has access directly from the road and has an access road in the lower part. According to the valid Spatial Development Plan of the city of Pula, the above-mentioned land is located near construction land, and in the near future, after its expansion, the land can be converted into construction land.
