Description

Description: Ližnjan is a fishing village with a naturally protected harbor located on a small peninsula in the very south of Istria. The place overlooks the clear blue sea and the Kvarner islands in their full beauty. There are as many as 28 km of beautiful and untouched beaches, which are mostly rocky. The picturesque harbor will tell you that you are in a place that has been living off the bounty of the sea since ancient times. The underwater area along the coast of Marlera and partly in the area of Kuje bay will reveal one of the last meadows of flowering sea grass or Voga. In addition to tourism, the inhabitants of this place are also engaged in fishing today, as they did thousands of years ago. An undiscovered jewel, located in front of its shores, is the islet of Levan, with a beautiful sandy beach and several catering facilities, an ideal place for those looking for adventure and a different sea experience.
