Description

Description: Agricultural land located in Marcana covers an area of 6451 m². The terrain has a rectangular shape, with dimensions that enable various agricultural activities. There is already a concrete foundation measuring 5 x 6 meters on the land, providing potential for various uses, such as the construction of a smaller commercial building or warehouse. An additional advantage of this land is the presence of water and sewage on the ground itself, which significantly facilitates agricultural activities and enables more efficient use of resources. Also, the proximity of the main road, only 50 meters away, provides easy access to the land and facilitates the transport of agricultural products or materials. Considering the possibility of building a smaller commercial building, the owner of the land has the opportunity to diversify his activities, whether it is the storage of agricultural tools, livestock or other resources. This space provides an ideal combination of resources and practicality for the successful management of agricultural activities in Marcana. ID CODE: IS1510965
