Description

Description: Large agricultural land for sale, near Marčana, Istria. Quiet location, 1 km from the first houses, opportunity for investment in agriculture. Large agricultural land is located in southeastern Istria near the small village of Veliki Vareški. It is located 1 km from the village and is approached by a gravel road. The whole plot is facing south. It used to be pastures (skas) combined with forest. After more than 20 years of non-use, the pastures have disappeared, so that today it is a terrain with various Istrian vegetation in which Istrian hills and forests predominate. The plot is completely surrounded by forest that has also not been cultivated for decades, except towards the north side where it borders a large olive grove of several thousand olive trees. Ecologically it is a clean and peaceful natural environment and due to its size and orientation opposite to populated areas and any noise it is ideal for more economic activities that need peace, quiet, pure nature, or for raising various animals or turning the terrain into an olive grove.
