Description

Description:	Plomin is a small town located on the east coast of Istria, in Croatia. It is located about 20 kilometers south of the town of Labin. The town of Plomin itself has about 400 inhabitants, but is often visited for its history and picturesque surroundings. Plomin is an old village with a rich history dating back to ancient times. In the Middle Ages, Plomin was an important settlement, with a fortress that controlled access to the sea and guarded the interior of Istria. Today, Plomin attracts visitors with its picturesque landscapes, beautiful views of the Adriatic Sea and local culture. In addition, the surrounding nature offers opportunities for various outdoor activities such as hiking, cycling and exploring the nearby beaches and bays. A house with started reconstruction in picturesque Plomin is for sale. The house extends over three floors, of which the apartment on the ground floor is furnished and ready for living. On the first and second floor there are two more apartments under reconstruction, each with its own entrance. The house has a new facade and carpentry, while the interior of the first and second floors needs to be finished. Given its location, the house offers a wonderful view of the surrounding landscapes and the Adriatic Sea. This house, which has begun reconstruction, represents an extraordinary opportunity for those who are looking for a space that they can adapt to their needs and vision of their home. With its excellent location and potential, this house in Plomin offers the possibility of creating a perfect Mediterranean home.
