Description

Description:	ISTRIA, PULA! House with building land and great potential Pula lies in the southwestern area of the Istrian peninsula in a well-protected bay and is the largest city in Istria. It is known, like the rest of the region, for its mild climate, calm sea and untouched nature. The town has a long tradition of winemaking, fishing, shipbuilding and tourism, and is also a transit port. Pula has been the administrative center of Istria since Roman times. Today, around 67,000 people live in the inner city area, but the area that gravitates towards it every day, and due to a combination of circumstances, is not administratively included in the structure of the city, although, in fact, it is an integral part of it, has more than 100,000 inhabitants. This one-story house with a lot of potential is located in a quiet and excellent location. 3 km from the center of Pula and only 2 km by air to the first beautiful beaches and the sea. The house consists of an entrance hall, a living room and a kitchen, two bedrooms, a bathroom and a subsequently built large room of 80 m² which is connected to the house. It has a total area of 160 m², and with modifications according to your wishes, you can create a special property. There is the possibility of raising another floor. The yard is 982 m² and is cadastrally separated for construction purposes, so it is possible to build on it according to the municipality's conditions. Considering all the location and the mentioned options, this property offers a number of options for renovating the house, expanding it, and using the garden, which is a construction site.
