Description

Description:	Marčana is a small place in the interior of Istria, surrounded by nature. This area abounds in natural beauty and rich cultural heritage. Marčana is known for its untouched nature. There is also the Brijuni National Park, which is only a short drive away. Marčana has a long history that goes back to the ancient period, and traces of the past are visible in old buildings, churches and architectural remains. Also, this area is rich in cultural events and traditions, with many local festivals, fairs and folklore events held throughout the year. We offer a beautiful plot of land that combines a building plot of 1000 m² and an agricultural plot of 920 m², and it is additionally enriched with stone drywall, which provides enough space to build your dream home. The land is flat and has already been cleared, which facilitates the construction process. Drywall stone fence not only adds aesthetic value, but also provides a sense of stability and tradition. This combination of construction and farming opportunities is ideal for those looking for a balance between urban and rural lifestyles. It is located in a quiet neighborhood, allowing you to enjoy the silence and peace of nature. And yet close to all the necessary amenities, it is the perfect place to create a home that meets different lifestyle needs. This land offers an ideal combination of practicality, beauty and comfort. With the possibility of building a house and close to the beaches of Duga Uvala, 8 km away, located on the eastern coast of the Adriatic Sea in Croatia, it is known for its crystal clear sea
