Description

Description: ISTRIA, ŽMINJ - Stone building in the center of the village with reconstruction started Since ancient times, Žminj has been an important traffic hub that connected the entire Istrian peninsula. The place is ideal for enjoying nature, hiking or cycling, and on the way through Žminj and its surroundings you will come across many stone houses, each with its own story. Centuries-old Istrian stone houses have been converted into agritourisms, so you can taste local Istrian cuisine, and on the last Saturday in August, the traditional Bartulja feast is held, the biggest folk feast that Istrians and their guests never miss. In the center of the village, a stone building is for sale in the Roh Bau phase, with quality concrete slabs and a staircase and a space divided into several separate units. One part of the house consists of the ground floor, where there is a tavern or a studio apartment. On the first floor there are two rooms and one bathroom. On the second floor there is an apartment with one bedroom, a bathroom, a kitchen with a dining room and an open view of the city and the surrounding area. The apartment in the attic has the same layout and size as the apartment on the second floor. The second part of the house consists of the ground floor, where there is a studio apartment or a tavern. On the first floor there is a studio apartment with a large bathroom. The second floor is a studio with a bathroom. There is also a studio apartment in the attic. The yard is 100 m² in size.
