Description

Description:	For sale is an agricultural land of 2500 m² that is fenced with dry wall, providing security and protection for your investments. The enclosed dry wall provides a traditional and charming look, while maintaining a characteristic rural ambience. This type of fence is often very durable and requires minimal maintenance, making it a practical option for long-term protection of your property. This land is characterized by the presence of young olive trees that are in the initial phase of growth, providing potential for the future development of olive growing. Given its proximity to the sea, this property provides exceptional climatic conditions for growing olives and other agricultural crops. The sea view further enriches the value of this land, providing a peaceful and picturesque environment for living or working. In addition, proximity to the sea can be beneficial for tourism purposes, such as agritourism or rural accommodation, which opens up additional opportunities for economic prosperity.
